

How you'll help

remote, rural and regional Australians connect with the vital healthcare services they need

Every two minutes, someone needs the Royal Flying Doctor Service

The Royal Flying Doctor Service is there for those living, working and travelling in remote, rural and regional areas across Australia.

Whether it's a life-threatening injury, a hospital transfer, or to see a GP, dentist or wellbeing clinician, the Flying Doctor provides the finest standard of care to every Australian who needs us.

With your help, each year the Flying Doctor provides:

24,889

Nurse, GP and Dental clinics are conducted across Australia each year.

36,951

Australians are flown each year by our expert aeromedical teams.

58,839

patients transported by road across Australia each year

Every dollar you raise will help keep the Flying Doctor in the air and on the road will pay for a full range of life saving medication such as sedatives, pain relief and antibiotics so the Flying Doctor can be ready for any emergency situation will help send a life-saving medical chest to a remote community will help provide one on one counselling to an outback Australian during a difficult time will help purchase essential pieces of equipment like ventilators, defibrillators and infusion pumps which are used on board flights

$33

$102

$156
